

School of Theology and Religious Studies
Professor of Homiletics

The School of Theology and Religious Studies at The Catholic University of America invites applications to fill a full-time, non-tenure-track faculty position in Homiletics to begin in August 2020.

The successful applicant will possess a Ph.D., STD, or D. Min. with a specialization in homiletics or some related theological discipline and be a priest in the Roman Catholic Church in good standing. Previous experience teaching homiletics and the ability to teach homiletics in Spanish is highly desirable.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach homiletics full-time, advise students, and serve on committees of the school and university. Directing theses, doctoral dissertations, and D.Min project treatises will be expected contingent upon the applicant's terminal degree. Rank and salary will be determined on the basis of academic credentials and publication record.

To apply, please send the following to the Chair of the Homiletics Search Committee of the School of Theology and Religious Studies (trs-jobs@cua.edu):

- a curriculum vitae
- three letters of recommendation
- a sample homily
- a letter of endorsement by the applicant's ecclesiastical superior (required)
- a one- to two-page personal statement indicating how the applicant's research and teaching would advance our University's mission and the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on ecclesiastical universities and faculties Veritatis gaudium and the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae.

Applications will begin to be reviewed on January 31, 2020.

The Catholic University of America is the national university of the Catholic Church and was founded as a center of research and scholarship. We seek candidates who understand and will make a significant contribution to the university's mission and goals.
